Credit Line Increase Program
Reward your members by anticipating spending needs and managing credit limits proactively

Increase spend, reduce attrition, anticipate spending needs, expand member value, generate interchange income, grow credit card portfolio revenue. Realize these benefits through proactively increasing credit limits.

The benefits of increasing credit limits proactively
Are you more conservative when assigning credit limits? This can mean your card limits are lower than those from other financial institutions. Do you have programs in place to manage your customers or reward them for good payment behavior? By being reactive, you rely on the customer to initiate a request for a higher credit limit. At that point, it is common to submit a new underwriting process to assess the customer’s eligibility. Because of these challenges, customers often forego asking for a credit limit increase and instead use another card with a higher credit limit or more utility.

Proactively increasing credit limits is a crucial step in expanding customer value and creating credit card portfolio revenue. As limits are increased, most active members spend more, and attrition is reduced as a result of correctly anticipating spending needs. Interchange income is generated as a result of higher transaction volume, and additional interest income is generated from growing revolving balances.

By automating the decision process and implementing the right strategies, you can raise credit limits effectively, increase portfolio revenue and gain higher wallet share.
