

Anti-money laundering solutions

ASSIST//ck®

Powerful money laundering detection, investigation and compliance reporting software

ASSIST//ck® provides automated systems and processes to monitor, detect, investigate, document and report potential money laundering activities.

Rely on this powerful technology to combat money laundering and to meet regulatory requirements.

Today's anti-money laundering challenge

The rising incidence and complexity of international financial crimes, coupled with a stringent regulatory environment, have made it increasingly difficult to track transactions and proactively uncover, report and investigate financial crimes. The October 2001 enactment of the USA PATRIOT Act placed heavier pressure on banks of all sizes and other businesses to join in the international fight against money laundering and terrorists' financing. No longer is it sufficient to scan government-sponsored lists of sanctioned individuals solely upon account openings. Rather, management must be vigilant in its continuous efforts to monitor transactions, track trends and effectively report potential money laundering. Without effective systems and processes in place, valuable monetary and human resources are depleted in an attempt to comply with regulations.

Anti-money laundering and risk solution

Experian® offers anti-money laundering solutions that provide relief to the complex and changing dynamics of money laundering and potential risk. Our software enables banks, brokerage firms, insurance companies and other businesses to effectively track, detect, investigate, report and manage suspicious activity, including money laundering.

How it works

ASSIST//ck systematically profiles account activities and monitors transaction trends to identify potential money laundering. ASSIST//ck helps financial institutions and businesses meet regulatory compliance and implement automated systems and processes required to monitor, detect, report, investigate, document and report money laundering activities. The software analyzes how money moves in, around and out of a bank or other business. It identifies suspect patterns of behavior, creates reports and helps reduce the administrative burdens and costs associated with manual compliance processes.
