Henry Kim is a business consultant who provides in-depth knowledge and expertise in strategy design and decision science solutions to enable clients to make the right decision at the right time. He also has extensive experience in helping financial institutions implement credit risk assessment platforms for capital adequacy.

Henry holds more than 15 years of experience in the industry and has helped more than 30 major financial institutions from both international and regional markets with decisioning implementation. He has advised many regulators and government agencies for best practice risk management and the use of credit bureau data for economic development. He brings a passion for his work and establishes strong client relationships based on trust, collaboration and delivered results.

Prior to joining Experian North America, Henry led a market expansion initiative in TransUnion Asia where he explored green field opportunities and promoted various value-add products and services. Henry also held positions at Experian Asia to grow new markets, help clients to implement decision solutions and comply with capital adequacy regulation.
