New value-added features

You can electronically search for a telephone number via our Electronic Directory Assistance database and credit header information. The database provides access to national residential and business listings from Regional Bell Operating Companies and Local Exchange Carriers. Updated daily, Electronic Directory Assistance delivers multiple telephone numbers from one request, saving you an average of 50 percent on costs for most voice-operator directory assistance services.

MetroNet also offers three search options from Experian's File OneSM database:

- The File One PhonesSM search option checks our credit database for the freshest phone information available — including, in some cases, unlisted and cell phone numbers.
- The File One best address feature uses our powerful search logic to link old addresses to the best current address.
- The comprehensive search feature uses the best of the File One database — in conjunction with the MetroNet core database — to provide skip-tracing professionals with a robust, one-click search request identifying updated contact information.

Powerful database and data sources

The robust MetroNet core database contains the following consumer and business information:

- Consumer name, address, telephone and demographic information from ConsumerViewSM, the nation's largest repository of consumer marketing demographic data.
- Deceased and issued Social Security numbers from File One.
- Listed and unlisted telephone numbers from File

One, white pages, Regional Bell Operating Companies and most independent telephone companies.

- Change of address files.
- Business names, addresses, telephone numbers and SIC codes.
- Area code splits and updates.
- ZIP + 4® coding.

Your choice of convenient access options

MetroNet can be accessed in a batch mode, through user-friendly interactive interfaces and through our Collection AdvantageSM service. The online and interactive access methods are web, XML, mainframe and IP to IP.
